Papa: No nepotism involved

His brother hired as supervisor

Madison County Board Chairman Rudy Papa is defending the recent hiring of his brother as a department supervisor, saying he knows of no nepotism policy that would have prevented it.

"There's a lot of family that works for the county," the chairman said.

Joe Papa, 57, of Granite City, started work last Monday as supervisor of the Special Sewer District at an annual salary of $31,855.

The district serves the bottomland areas of the county along the Mississippi River, mostly with federal grants. The district supervisor is the second-in-command of a 10-member staff under superintendent Dan Stern.

Joe Papa's hiring has not yet been approved by the county's Special Services Board, chaired by board member Don Rea, D-Granite City.

Traditionally, departmental hirings are handled by the department head, although the chairman is the ultimate hiring authority.

Rudy Papa said he did not know about the hiring until after Rea and Stern made up their minds. He said he knew of nothing that would forbid the hiring of an immediate relative to a supervisory position.

However, according to the county's Personnel Policy Handbook, "an immediate family member, except for a spouse, may not be hired" under the following conditions:

If it would create either a direct or indirect supervisor/subordinate relationship with a family member.

If it would create either an actual conflict or appearance of a conflict of interest.

Rea said he contacted Joe Papa about working for the sewer district several weeks ago.

"Rudy Papa did not initiate this hiring," he said.

Challenges aplenty in city election

Nearly all incumbents in Granite City and township face opposition

Nearly all incumbent elected officials in Granite City and Granite City Township will face challenges in the April 1 election.

As of Monday in the city, incumbent Treasurer Gail Valle, 2nd Ward Alderman Craig Tarpoff and 1st Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish were the only three elected officials who did not yet have potential opposition come forward to pick up election petitions.

Candidates for all offices in the Tri-City area must file petitions between Jan. 15 and Jan. 21 to have their names placed on the April 1 ballot.

A mayor, city clerk, treasurer and eight aldermen are to be elected in the city April 1.

In the township, a supervisor and assessor are to be elected. The elected city clerk also serves as township clerk and the mayor and aldermen serve on the town board.

Township Supervisor Bernie Hagnauer — who was appointed to the post last year to succeed her husband, Nelson Hagnauer, after his death — is the only incumbent who has not yet picked up petitions and will apparently not seek the office.

Current 3rd Ward Alderman Bob Shipley, of the 2400 block of Dodge Avenue, and newcomer Michael Patton, of the 2100 block of Delmar Avenue, have taken out petitions for the supervisor position.

Two possible candidates have taken out petitions to challenge incumbent Assessor Darlene Laub: Earl Tucker of the 2400 block of Grand Avenue and Ronald Corey of the 2400 block of Waterman Avenue.

At least five candidates plan to seek the office of mayor: incumbent Ron Selph of the 3200 block of Westchester, former police commissioner Dewey Melton of the 2500 block of Westmoreland, Larry Severs of the 3000 block of Willow Avenue, David Partney of Donald Court, and Paul Ray Bowler of the 2700 block of Center Street. Both Bowler and Partney are former Granite City School Board members.

Incumbent City Clerk Judy Whitson may face opposition from Scott Wilson, a banker and auxiliary police officer who has said he intends to run but has not picked up petitions. Ken Kramer, who gave an address in the warehouse district in the 1100 block of Niedringhaus Avenue, picked up petitions for the clerk post.

Aldermanic candidates include: Ward 1 — Skubish, of the 2700 block of Lincoln Avenue (incumbent); Ward 2 — Tarpoff, of the 2600 block of Madison Avenue (incumbent); Ward 3 — Nick Petrillo of the 2200 block of Cleveland Boulevard (incumbent); Marilyn Matsko of the 2200 block of Lee Avenue, and John Kabbendjian of the 2300 block of Benton Street;

Ward 5 — Skubish, of the 2700 block of Lincoln Avenue (incumbent); Ward 6 — Tarpoff, of the 2600 block of Madison Avenue (incumbent); Ward 7 — Nick Petrillo of the 2200 block of Cleveland Boulevard (incumbent); Marilyn Matsko of the 2200 block of Lee Avenue, and John Kabbendjian of the 2300 block of Benton Street;

Teen's death prompts outcry

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Tyrell "T.J." James was a popular boy who got along well with his fellow students and was given the title "class clown" by his teachers at Madison High School.

But the Venice teen's good nature and popularity could not prevent his tragic death by a single gunshot to the head early New Year's morning.

More than 200 friends, family members, fellow students and neighbors packed the tiny Bibleway Deliverance Church in the 1200 block of Klein Street in Venice at noon Monday to remember the high school junior.

Many young children, adults and near-adults openly wept at the hour-long service commemorating the 17-year-old.

Although several people in the 300 block of Baucum Avenue were reportedly discharging firearms just after midnight Jan. 1 to celebrate the new year, police are treating the death as a homicide.

Venice Police Chief James Newsome said.

T.J. was reportedly wearing a bulletproof vest at the time he was shot in the head.

"We've conducted a number of interviews and there are several other people we need to talk to," Newsome said, adding that he was waiting until after the funeral to interview some individuals.

The death came just two weeks after the body of Marcus White, a former track star from Venice, was pulled from Horseshoe Lake.

The Rev. John Henry Williams, who had baptized T.J. James several years ago, said it is not a coincidence that two young men have recently been killed — apparently murdered — in the past three weeks in the tiny city of Venice.

"There's something going on and it's not right. We have to stop the senseless killing," Williams said. "One murder is too many. Two is way too many. These are not strangers — these are the kids who grew up in our community. Never in my life can I remember something like this happening."

"We can't sit back and be silent. There's no justification for this outrage."

Williams, pastor of New Shining Light Missionary Baptist Church, and associate John Love, said drugs, gangs and complacency are devastating not only Venice, but also the neighboring cities of Madison, Brooklyn and Granite City.

"I go through our community every day," Williams said.

Grant will finance new library network

The Illinois State Library has awarded $150,000 to the Southern Illinois Regional Information Network, a consortium of local colleges and libraries including Belleville Area College, to establish a regional information network that will link nearly 32 rural counties in Southern Illinois.

"People can get on the Internet and find out about things going on in other states and foreign countries more easily than they can find out what's going on in their local communities," said BAC's Dean of Learning Resources, Lloyd Gentry. "The goal of this project is to make local and regional information easily available to people who live in Southern Illinois."

The Southern Illinois Regional Information Network is a library-based cooperative, in conjunction with the Shawnee Library System, that will provide residents with access to the Internet and local data such as entertainment, tourism, education, recreation and government information.

The network will be composed of three main sites: Belleville Area College's Belleville Campus, Illinois Eastern Community College in Olney, and John A. Logan Community College in Carterville. Area libraries will be responsible for working with local citizens to gather community information, which will be entered onto one of these sites.

Area man explores post-retirement options

By Alene Hill
Correspondent

It doesn't take a rocket scientist to understand what Bud Drummond means when he says he's never had a dull job.

After a long career that saw the first manned spacecraft landing on the moon, he continues to work on rocket engines and space craft, even after the lure of retirement.

"As long as my health holds up, I'll go on working," he said. "At least part time."

Floyd Mont Drummond, better known as "Bud" to his friends, was born in Salem, Mo., about 26 miles south of Rolla, the last of four children.

"I had two older sisters who I never knew," he said. "They died of pneumonia when they were young. They didn't have a lot to battle pneumonia then."

The family moved to Rolla where he finished high school and later, college. He still has an older sister living in Rolla.

Although his path through college and into the aeronautical field was delayed and then interrupted, "I didn't know that's what I wanted to do," Drummond said. "I was born during the Depression and while I was in high school, Pearl Harbor was bombed so we didn't think about much besides going into the service."

But, he said, his high school encouraged math and science, laying a foundation for his studies at the nearby college.

In June 1943, immediately after graduating from high school, he and two friends enlisted in the Navy.

His Navy years were spent all over the United States and it was in the Navy where he got his first taste of electrical aviation engineering.

After service, he returned to Rolla and married Dorothy, a Rolla native, in 1947 and decided a year later to go to college. The couple raised five children: two boys, John and Mont, and three daughters, Robbie, Beverly and Shelly.

With one semester to finish, college was interrupted by a year of active duty in the Korean War. He returned and finished his degree in electrical engineering in January 1952.

He decided to move back to the Midwest and Rolla where he taught while working on his master's degree. He was soon offered a job with North American Aviation in Los Angeles. With that company he spent time in Huntsville, Ala. working on the Jupiter missile, an Army project.

It was while working with the Army that he decided to make a transfer. In 1950, to the newly formed National Aeronautics and Space Administration which had been considering what Drummond thought was the dubious notion of putting a man on the moon.

"NASA had been talking about going to the moon," he said. "It wasn't a secret; it was all open but I thought those people were crazy."

After transferring to NASA and beginning work on large liquid fuel rocket engines, the idea didn't seem so preposterous after all, he said.

In 1961, Kennedy had sold the idea to Congress the idea of putting a man on the moon. I began to change my mind," he said.

His first seven years with NASA, he worked on the J-2 rocket engine, fueled by liquid hydrogen.

"The idea of using liquid hydrogen as rocket engine fuel was very new," he said.

Liquid hydrogen, he said, must be kept at -420 degrees Fahrenheit while liquid oxygen must be kept at -329 degrees Fahrenheit. The by-product of their combustion, he said, is simply water.

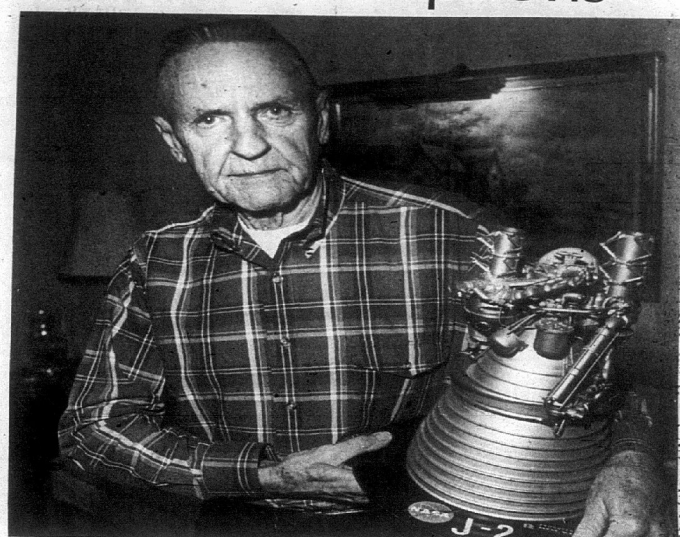

The engine was used in the second and third stages of the rocket that sent the Apollo capsule to the moon.

In mid-1967 he switched to the Skylab program, the first manned space station.

A lot of that work was done in St. Louis by McDonnell-Douglas and the McDonnell-Douglas in Huntington Beach," he said.

His wife, Dorothy, died in early 1970.

He later married his current wife, Cleta, a Granite City

Although Bud Drummond retired from McDonnell-Douglas in 1993, he continues to work in the aeronautical field. While with NASA, he worked on the J-2 rocket engine, fueled by liquid hydrogen.

native who worked as a secretary for the engineering manager at McDonnell-Douglas.

In October 1973, the family moved to Collinsville where his two youngest daughters completed high school and he worked for Engineering and Environmental Planning at Scott Air Force Base.

In August 1985, he retired after 30 years with the federal government and four weeks later he went to work for McDonnell-Douglas on the Tomahawk Missile program.

"I wasn't ready to retire," Drummond said. "I was only 59 at the time, and I wanted to retire until I found another job."

He worked for six years on electrical power systems for satellites and retired from McDonnell-Douglas at the end of 1993.

After only 19 months of retirement, McDonnell-Douglas called him with an offer. "They said they had six months of work for me with the SLAM missile," he said. "That was 16 months ago."

When he's not coming out of retirement to find yet another project for his talents, he spends his time as a member of the vestry at Christ Episcopal Church in Collinsville, "dabbling at golf, or with a more recent pastime, trout fishing."

While Cleta works part-time for the state of Illinois with the Illinois Emergency Management Agency, he's content continuing his life's work and visiting his grandchildren.

"I have six grandchildren, so I have to stay young," he said.

Madison OKs bid for Ohio Street renovation

The Madison City Council last week approved a resolution awarding the bid on a half-million dollar improvement to Ohio Street near the Gateway Truck Stop to Hank's Excavating and Landscaping. The city's portion of the cost is about $37,500.

William Weidner announced that city stickers will go on sale today, Jan. 2, at a cost of $5 per vehicle. Senior citizens can obtain one sticker at no charge.

The cost of the stickers doubles to $10 as of Feb. 1, seniors pay $5 after that date. Stickers are available at City Hall between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The City Council also unanimously concurred with a Zoning Board recommendation to deny a special use permit at 1435 Third Street.

A.V. Peavey applied for the permit to allow a multi-family residential use.

Police Chief Steve Skoloz said police had been called to 1435 Third Street and 1437 Third Street 27 times in the past year for disturbances, damage to property and drug dealing.

Peavey has had problems with rental property he owns in Granite City and has filed a federal complaint against the city for unfair housing practices, claiming that city officials discriminated against him and his tenants — many of them black — on basis of race.

Tips on creating a realistic-looking Dollhouse from the experts at

FRANK'S NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

One of your loved ones received a brand new miniature dollhouse kit for Christmas? Nobody's gotten around to assembling it yet? And you're elected? Well, there's a lot you need to wait. We have some tips you can put to good use.

Before we get into anything, it should be mentioned that these types of miniature dollhouses are not considered toys and are not intended for small children. These houses, while fairly durable, are not intended to withstand the rigors of rough play. And they contain many small parts. So if you desire a house for a small child, forego this one for a while and pay a visit to a toy store. They'll have plenty of dollhouses specially designed for the little ones.

Assembling a wooden dollhouse isn't as tough as it may seem at first. But here's a word of caution: Once you start, you may find yourself getting carried away with it. Into the wee hours of the morning. Keep an eye on the time!

"If all else fails, read the directions." You've heard that before. This time, no matter how skilled you feel you are, read the directions first. They contain helpful hints, and you can avoid the frustration of "gee if I'd only done that first."

Assembling the house on a good solid base helps greatly. Plywood is best, and "good one side" will work fine. Cutting the base larger than the house makes it possible to add "landscaping" later.

Tools

One of the most valuable tools you can obtain for this project is a small carpenter's square with a built-in level. If you don't have one, by all means get one before starting the house. "Close enough" simply doesn't work with this type of project, and if something's off, you'll find out about it later on, when it's much harder to correct.

Other tools that will be of great help are: small hand saw and miter box (very small, such as those at hobby shops), sandpaper, a file, brads (tiny nails), needle-nose pliers, and a container of wood filler or spackling. Wood filler is more durable, but spackling can be substituted in many cases. It's cheaper, cleans up easier, and non-flammable. It's white, so only use it on areas that will be painted white or covered with wallpaper or flooring.

Make sure your base is level before beginning. This makes the whole assembly easier. When assembling walls and floors, use the carpenter's square. Floors and walls must be absolutely square, level and/or plumb. For those non-handy people, "plumb" means straight up and down.

Don't be in too big a hurry to shingle the roof, especially if you plan on wiring the house. You may have to turn the house on its side now and then, and this can break the shingles.

Once your walls and floors are freshly-glued in place, leave everything alone for a day. Doing too much with uncured glue can cause things to move around, and something can get out of kilter without you realizing it.

Fitting doors is one thing. Getting them to close properly is another. Unless, however, you were careful and everything's straight. If not, a little filing here and there should make things work.

There's much more to this fascinating hobby. Wall finishing, paperhanging, electrical wiring, scenery, you name it. It's one of those hobbies that never seems to be completely finished. We'll have more tips in Sunday's column.

BULIMIA
Clinical Research Associates of Edwardsville needs volunteers 18 years of age or older with bulimia nervosa to participate in a research study comparing an investigational drug with placebo for this disorder. Symptoms include: (1) Recurrent episodes of binge eating, that is eating in a short time an amount of food that is definitely larger than most people would eat in a similar period of time. (2) A sense of loss of control of the eating. (3) Recurrent inappropriate behavior to prevent weight gain, such as self-induced vomiting; use of laxatives, diuretics, enemas or other medications; fasting; or excessive exercise.

Suitable volunteers will receive a study related medical and psychiatric evaluation and study drug from a psychiatrist free of charge. If you think you or someone you know might qualify please call us at 618-659-0292.

- ☐ High Triglycerides
- ☐ Diabetes
- ☐ Personal history of cardiovascular disease
- ☐ Family history of heart disease
- ☐ Hypertension
- ☐ Overweight
- ☐ Physical inactivity
- ☐ Cigarette smoking
- ☐ Male or post-menopausal female

Your risk for heart and blood vessel disease increases with each box you mark.

Memorial's Preventive Cardiology and Cholesterol Clinic offers a comprehensive and progressive approach to cholesterol management and modification of specific risk factors related to heart disease.

The Preventive Cardiology and Cholesterol Clinic provides a multi-disciplinary team approach to give you individualized care. Services include:

- Personal risk assessment by a cardiologist
- Risk factor counseling by a registered nurse
- Dietary assessment conducted by a registered dietitian
- A complete lipid blood test (total cholesterol, HDL, LDL, triglycerides, coronary risk report)

Based on test results, our professional team will develop a treatment plan to help you improve cholesterol and fat levels as well as reduce your risk of heart and blood vessel disease.

The Clinic team works in conjunction with your primary care physician to monitor progress. Depending upon individual risk levels, the Clinic staff either will provide ongoing clinical evaluation or recommend periodic follow-up.

Jail gets 1st woman captain

By Mark Hodapp
Staff writer

Carol Stirrup is used to being first. But her appointment as the first woman captain at the St. Clair County Jail caught even her by surprise.

"I certainly would have had my hair done," said Stirrup, 52. St. Clair County Sheriff Mearl Justus announced Stirrup's promotion during a press conference last week at the jail. Stirrup, of Millstadt, is also the jail's first female assistant superintendent and was the department's first female lieutenant.

In her new role, Stirrup will continue to assist jail superintendent TJ Collins. "I don't feel any differently," she said. "It's an honor to be recognized at a job you love and by a boss who you respect." Stirrup's appointment became effective Jan. 1. Justus said he chose Stirrup for the created position because of her commitment and dedication. A 16-year veteran of the department, Stirrup said she will not receive any additional money with her promotion. She, however, called her appointment a victory for all female police officers.

day and see people walking around comatose," said Love, a reformed addict. "I see people coming down from Granite City in cabs to buy drugs."

Love said music videos glorify the gangster mentality and drug use. He also said too few parents are concerned enough about the problem to do something.

"These parents know their children aren't in school. They know their kids can't afford $200 tennis shoes," Love said. "Parents have to take control. Too many of them either don't care or they're afraid of their children."

Dr. John R. Gardner, a Venice dentist, said the entire community must band together to fight the problem. "Individuals can do very little," Gardner said. "It takes a collective responsibility. We want the community to come together, be united, and show everyone that we love them, we care and we want them to turn from the things they are doing."

One problem, Gardner said, is the inaccessibility of treatment facilities because of overcrowding. "We need a temporary facility for those unable to get into rehab," Gardner said. "But of course, our community is one of few (economic) resources."

Williams would like to organize the effort before the annual Martin Luther King Jr. march. "Dr. King had a dream and it was non-violence," Williams said. "We are turning that dream into a nightmare."

•Papa

Rea said he had known Joe Papa for a long time and knew that he had recently been laid off as a supervisor of engineering at Olin Corp. Rea said he considered Joe Papa an excellent choice for supervisor at the sewer district because of his experience.

The supervisor's position, which was created in 1996, is necessary to have someone to manage staff and fill in when Stern is gone, he said. After talking with Joe Papa, Rea said he and Stern agreed that the County Board chairman's younger brother should be hired. Cornwall's approval of the hiring is scheduled to take place at their next meeting, 9 a.m. Thursday.

The position of supervisor was created in 1996 to begin training a replacement for former superintendent Paul Bennett, who announced his retirement last summer.

Rea said he and the other Special Service Committee members wanted to have a second-in-command to train a replacement for Bennett, who agreed to stay on until the New Year. Stern was brought on to train under Bennett. Stern was made superintendent at the December meeting of the County Board.

PUBLIC MEETINGS

PROPOSED AIR QUALITY STANDARDS
EPA will hold two meetings to discuss the proposed air quality standards for ozone (smog) and particulate matter (soot). The meetings will provide the public with a brief background on ozone, particulate matter, their effects on human health, the proposed revisions to the current standards and how the public can get involved in this process. This is not a public hearing; rather it is a chance for the public to get more information on how to make comments to EPA.

The meetings will be held:

Day: Saturday, January 11
Time: 9:00 am to Noon
Place: Clyde C. Jordan Sr. Citizens Ctr

Excitement in forecast for Class A

Unless you are a fan of Class A high school boys basketball, you have not circled Feb. 24-25 on your calendar. Yet, if you realize there's a little difference between the games of the so-called "small" and "large" schools, you may as well consider what I expect to be a dandy Monday through Friday leading to the Madness of March.

Holiday tournament results were enough to make me check the entrants for three southwestern Illinois-area regional tournaments that should include some of the most exciting action a basketball buff could want.

Those regionals and entrants are:

- at Carlyle: Breese Central, Breese Mater Dei, Carlyle, Nashville, Odin, Okawville and Sandoval.
- at Columbia: Columbia, Marissa, New Athens, Red Bud, Sparta, Valmeyer and Gibault.

At Wesclin: Althoff, Dupro, Freeburg, Lebanon, Lovejoy, Madison, Wesclin and Venice. Now consider these ingredients: At Carlyle, the host Indians finished fourth in the Mater Dei tourney, won by Nashville, 70-52, over Mascoutah. En route to a third-place finish, Central defeated Mater Dei and Carlyle. Okawville's sellouts in the Mater Dei round-robin included a 52-point effort by Abel Schrader, the area's scoring leader (29.2 ppg) in a 72-71 win over Greenville.

At Columbia, the host school features twin scoring threats, Shawn (21.3) and Ryan (21.1) Patton for the area's sixth-highest scoring team, while an improving Red Bud team may get another chance to prove that its 52-42 fifth-place win over perennial power Gibault was no fluke at the Freeburg Tournament.

At Wesclin, Freeburg and Venice, the No. 1 and 2 teams in the Freeburg tourney, will be challenged by Althoff — which won three of its last four games at Mater Dei — and Madison, the area's seventh-best scoring team which edged Granite City and Jacksonville before an overtime loss to Chatham Glenwood in the consolation championship at Collinsville.

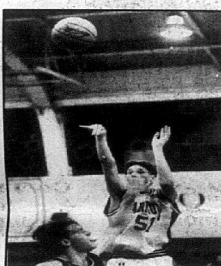

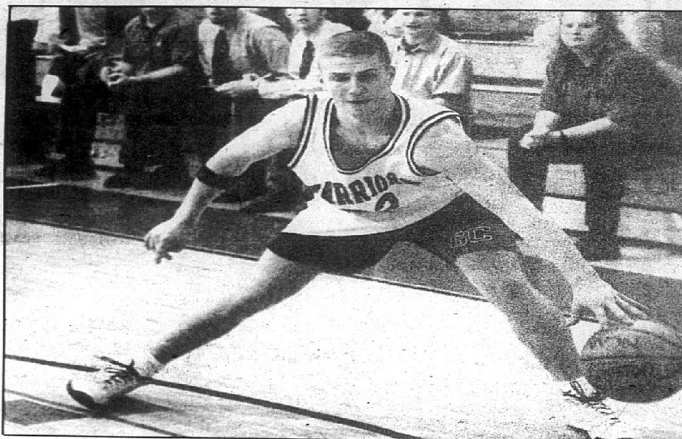

OVERTIME: In defeating Venice, 59-53, for its own tourney title, Freeburg confirmed something coach Fred Blumberg had told me prior to the championship game.

"This is the quickest team I've coached," said Blumberg, whose 26 years on the sideline include a Freeburg holiday crown in 1978 with New Athens.

Blumberg put together back-to-back Freeburg titles thanks to a tenacious defense and offensive rebounding — areas where quickness is invaluable. An early-season 54-43 winner over Venice, Freeburg connected on just 19 of 60 field goal attempts (32 percent) but never faltered in applying a half-court press.

"These guys lost just one game as freshmen and sophomores," Blumberg said of the 11 seniors on the

How West won: 3-pointers, defense gives Maroons first road victory

By Tim Carley
Correspondent

It was a case of youth versus experience Saturday night when Belleville West traveled to Granite City for a Southwestern Conference matchup.

The younger players of Belleville West stepped up and handed a 66-59 conference loss to the Warriors and it was done mainly from long distance.

The Maroons dropped home eight 3-pointers, including five to senior Ben Wanless.

West ended a four-game losing streak and moved to 2-6 overall and 2-3 in SWC play, while Granite City fell to 3-6 overall and 1-4 in the league.

It was West's first victory since Dec. 13, when it won its other SWC game against East St. Louis.

The win was also the first by Belleville West on the road this season.

"A win like this for our team is big," West coach Bill Schmidt said. "We needed to come out against a team — not that we should beat but a team that we could beat — and show we could do that."

The game was knotted at 48 after the first possession of the fourth quarter following a basket by Granite City forward Dustin Brewer.

But West proceeded to reel off a 3-2 run and stretch its lead to 57-50.

Wanless had two big baskets in the run to help extend West's comfort zone.

The run was also a tribute to West's defense. The Maroons' interior players effectively took Brewer out of the game while West went on its scoring spree.

"We just didn't shoot the ball very well and when the game was on the line, we turned the ball over," Granite City coach John Van Buskirk said. "In the fourth quarter, they took Brewer away and nobody stepped up for us."

Wanless led the way for the Maroons with his five 3-pointers and 21 points.

Junior guard Bryan Swift was also a terror from beyond the arc, as he finished with three 3-pointers and 20 points.

"(Wanless and Swift) are very good players and we could have done a better job not giving up the 3-pointers to them early in the game," Van Buskirk said.

Brewer paced the Warriors with 26 points and hauled down 10 rebounds. Senior Kyle Briggs added 13 points and Ray Smith finished with 12.

Schmidt believes that a gutsy win like Saturday's can have a huge effect on his young team. He didn't say that it was a must-win situation, but he was glad to see the Maroons get a win and stop the losing skid.

"Granite City is a hard-nosed, hard-working basketball team and I thought our kids, on their floor, met that," Schmidt said. "We didn't let them take control of the game with their aggressiveness and physical play. This should be a big boost for our kids' confidence."

"We just didn't shoot the ball very well, and when the game was on the line, we turned the ball over. In the fourth quarter, they took Brewer away, and nobody stepped up for us."

A weighty matter: Janek will focus on college gridiron

By Pat Heston
Staff writer

Unlike the vast majority of prep players, Chris Janek's football days did not end with the last game of his senior year in high school.

Instead, the former Granite City standout recently completed his first year of Division I college football at the University of Wisconsin, capped off by the Badgers' 38-10 Copper Bowl thrashing of Utah on Dec. 27.

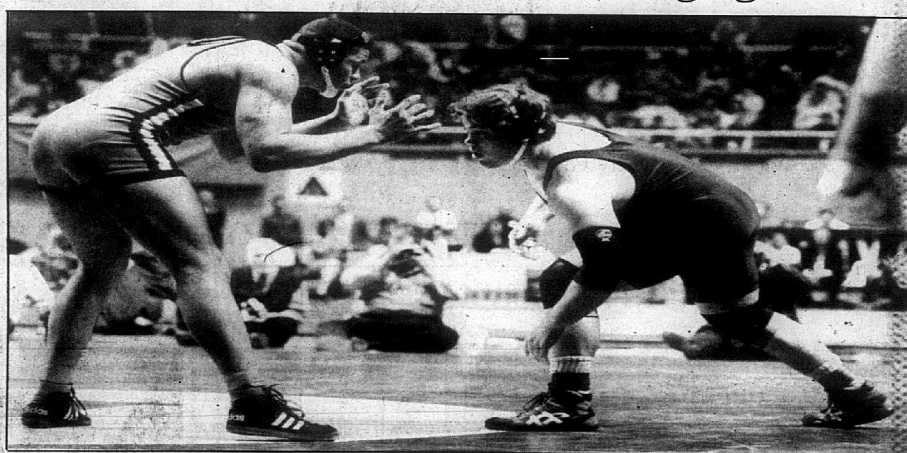

Janek, at 6-3 and 289 pounds, played behind a fifth-year senior but still managed to accomplish a rare feat by lettering as a true freshman in the Big Ten. He has been tabbed as the starting nose guard next season and is spending what offseason he has working to get ready.

"The coaching staff wants me to be 300 pounds by spring practice," Janek said. "That is a realistic goal, and I am hitting the weights now to reach that goal by April. My other main focus is to increase my speed."

Part of Janek's first-year success is due to lining up each day in practice across from the biggest offensive line in college football.

"Our line was ranked third

Chris Janek, right, will probably start for the University Of Wisconsin football team next year.

SIUE Cougars fall prey to slump, 1-3 conference record

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

After starting the season 6-1, the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville men's basketball team has hit a rough stretch in conference play.

The Cougars have gone 1-3 in the Great Lakes Valley Conference race and have fallen to 7-4.

Coach Jack Margenthaler said the team has been hit by the flu bug during the last two games but is not using that as an excuse.

The slow start in the GLVC has caught Margenthaler and the Cougars off guard.

"We're disappointed with being 1-3 right now in the league. We didn't anticipate that at all," Margenthaler said. "We just did not play well, particularly on this last road trip. I should say we didn't play well on (Jan. 2) at (Wisconsin-) Parkside. We really let one get away from us there that we didn't anticipate happening. That was disappointing."

"We did come back Saturday and played very inspired. In every respect of the ballgame, if you look at it statistically we won except in two areas — one was the score, and two, the fact we had 30 turnovers. If you cut that down to 18, which is still too many, you win the basketball game."

"We shot well. We outrebounded them. We shot very, very well from the line. We executed probably as well as we have all year. Defensively, we were very aggressive and really thought we played a very good basketball game."

After the loss to Wisconsin-Parkside, Margenthaler voiced concern that none of his seniors stepped forward to take control of the game for the Cougars.

The talk seemed to sink in. Despite losing to Lewis University 101-95, Margenthaler said the team looked more cohesive.

"I thought Saturday that many people stepped up," Margenthaler said. "That's why I think we improved. Now it will be another major test to see if that is going to carry over to a very tough Thursday night (home) game against Southern Indiana."

"We talked about people who had

In the nation this year — bigger than any professional offensive line, and that was a big help to me," Janek said. "Our starters ranged from 6-5 to 6-7 and weighed from 310 to 390 pounds. Going up against them every practice made me a better player each day."

There were some major adjustments for the freshman, but they were not so much in time management. "My typical day went from 8 in the morning until 9:30 in the evening. The routine was classes, workout, practice, meal and study every day for five months," he said. "It was a lot more intense than high school and required a lot more personal management."

Time management is the major reason Janek did not continue wrestling in college. Second at state as a high school senior in 1995, he thought about wrestling for Wisconsin, but the time element as well as the wrestling weight limit worked against him.

"The weight limit to wrestle is 275 pounds," Janek said. "I could wrestle at that weight, but then I would have to gain pounds for football. The pattern of gaining, then losing, then gaining again was not something I wanted to get into."

Despite traveling to Hawaii with his squad for the Copper Bowl, other things stood out this season.

"My biggest thrill was the first time I stepped onto the field at Camp Randall Stadium in front of 85,000 spectators to play football for Wisconsin," Janek said. "I will never forget Hawaii or Tucson, but they were neither as thrilling to me as my first game as a college player."

For Janek, there will be many more games as a player at Wisconsin. He loves coach Barry Alvarez, who Janek describes as a player's coach, down to earth, always at practice, and a guy who calls players by name.

Janek also believes that the Wisconsin program is turned around for good. Coming off an 8-5 season, the Badgers will be younger in certain positions but stronger overall.

"The next three years look good," Janek said. "We'll be tough."

to play role positions and they did that very well when they played Saturday."

Rusty Sarnes led the Cougars in scoring Saturday with 21 points. Ronnie Henderson added 20, and Jason Holmes chipped in with 13. Holmes now needs 121 points to surpass Keil Peebles (1,677) as the Cougars' all-time leading scorer.

WOMEN VICTORIOUS: Kim Lowe came off the bench to pour in 19 points and help the SIUE women to a 72-61 win over Lewis University.

Leslie Phillips also chipped in with 19 points for SIUE, which improved to 8-3 overall and 3-1 in the GLVC. Lewis dropped to 6-3, 1-3.

Alicia Harkins and Amy Mazner also scored in double figures with 18 and 13 points, respectively.

Midgets' varsity roster...

Among the officials kept busy by the holiday tournaments was Kevin Pawlow of Edwardsville, who bounced back and forth from games at Mater Dei and Collinsville.

Pawlow and his wife Suzy became parents of Alexandria, their first child, on Dec. 2.

Had Alexandria attended any of the Collinsville games, her crying would not have been as noticeable as that of spectator Dick Schofield, a former major league baseball bonus baby and longtime infielder. Schofield, of Springfield, is the grandfather of Jason Worth, an all-Collinsville tourney selection from Chatham Glenwood.

On the mat — Brooks Narvez battles against Eric Gibson of Edwardsville at 140-pound level. The Warriors next match is Friday against Belleville East.

Elks Hoop Shoot
Local competition for the 25th Annual Elks Hoop Shoot, the national free throw shooting contest for youngsters ages 8-13, will be held 8:30 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 11 at Coolidge Middle School.

More than 3 million youngsters throughout the country entered last year's competition for boys and girls in three age categories, 8-9, 10-11 and 12-13. Each contestant will get 25 shots. The boy and girl in each age group with the best score advance through four tiers of competition to qualify for the national finals in Indianapolis.

Local winners will take on other contestants in the district event Jan. 25 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Names of the national winners will be inscribed on the Elks National Hoop Shoot plaque on display at the Neismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

K of C contest

The Knights of Columbus will sponsor a free-throw contest beginning at 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 19 at the K of C Hall, located at 4225 Old Alton Road in Granite City. Registration begins at 11:30 a.m. Boys and girls ages 10-14 years are eligible, and proof of age is required. Winners will advance to the next level.

For more information, call Bob Palus at 451-8888.

Park league sign-ups

The Granite City Park District is now taking registration for boys and girls wanting to play youth baseball, tee-ball or ponytail softball this summer. The sign-ups are for boys and girls who would like to play in the 1997 summer park leagues but are not currently on a park district team or have never played in the park district leagues.

Boys and girls who will be ages 6-16 may have their name placed on the list. Every effort will be made to place them on a team.

Boys and girls tee-ball is for ages 6-7, youth baseball is for ages 8-16 and ponytail softball is for ages 8-16.

New teams are formed from the completed list. Names on the list are also used by managers of existing teams that need to fill their rosters.

Anyone interested in coaching or managing a youth baseball, tee-ball or ponytail softball team may visit the Wilson Park office or call recreation supervisor Ray Hoffman at 877-3059.

Wanted: Stats, standings

The Journal is always on the alert for organized recreational sport results. If your league is interested in having weekly standings and results published, please send information to:

Journal Sports, 1815 Delmar, Granite City, Ill. 62040 or fax to: 876-4240. For more information, call the Sports Department at 877-7700.

BELLEVILLE AREA COLLEGE

32 SIUE students in '97's "Who's Who"

The 1997 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" will include the names of 32 students from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville who have been selected as national outstanding campus leaders.

A campus nominating committee and the editors of the annual directory have included the names of these students based on their academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success. They join an elite group of students from more than 1,800 institutions of higher learning in all 50 states, the District of Columbia and several other nations.

Outstanding students have been honored in the annual directory since it was first published in 1934. Students named this year from SIUE, are listed, along with the activities in which they have become leaders:

Sometimes time doesn't heal all wounds...

Memorial's Wound Care and Limb Preservation Clinic can help.

Memorial's Wound Care and Limb Preservation Clinic specializes in caring for people with chronic, non-healing wounds of the legs - a significant health problem in the United States.

Among the most common problems treated in the Wound Care and Limb Preservation Clinic are:

- Venous Stasis Ulcers - from weakness in the vein walls on the lower leg.
- Diabetic Ulcers - from poor blood flow and nerve damage in the legs and feet caused by diabetes.
- Leg Ulcer - from narrowing of the arteries causing reduced blood flow in legs.

Services offered
The Wound Care and Limb Preservation Clinic team is specially trained in:

- Wound Evaluation
- Wound Treatment
- Education and Prevention

Vascular and plastic surgeons evaluate your wound and formulate an individualized treatment plan. Other physician specialists are consulted as necessary. Fees are charged according to the extent of services received.

For an appointment
Call Memorial's Marsh Cardiovascular Unit at (618) 257-5036. The Wound Care and Limb Preservation Clinic is held on Tuesdays from 8 a.m. to noon in Memorial's Physical Therapy Department.

Lively Taste

Rice, fancy or simple, is appealing for its economy. Cook 1 cup thinly sliced carrot in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine about 5 minutes until tender-crisp. Add 1-1/4 cups water, 3/4 cup apple juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup uncooked rice, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/2 cup raisins. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Simmer, covered, about 15 minutes until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Stir in 1/2 cup sliced unpeeled apple and 1/2 cup sliced green onion. Heat thoroughly. Top with 1 tablespoon toasted sesame seeds. Makes 6 servings, 260 calories and 5 g fat each.

Fresh Picks

Peel carrots before cooking for maximum sweetness or cook with peels for more 'earthy' taste. After cooking, toss lightly with a little orange juice and a touch of ginger and brown sugar.

Big Fat Tip

Scale down the trail to the Mount Everest of eating. Switch from margarine to reduced-fat spread on toast in the morning, from mayonnaise to mustard on a sandwich at lunch, from regular to light or nonfat salad dressing, and skin poultry at dinner. On the plate, shrink bland-colored or brown items and increase the size of colorful ones. This should result in larger portions of salad, vegetables and fruits and smaller servings of meat and cheese.

Future Shop

The U.S. government has established a goal that 75 percent of cropland will use integrated pest management techniques by the year 2000. The term IPM will become noticeable in the supermarket as growers use ancient and modern techniques — from use of insect predators instead of pesticides to weather monitoring to predict crop-damaging outbreaks — in producing crops with as little application of man-made products as necessary. Results from a recent IPM program between growers and supermarkets in New York have resulted in more environmentally friendly products that cost significantly less than organic produce. PLATE-O-PIZZA

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Life is too short to be picky about pizza. Many people would hope a brilliant mind like Plato thought it. In another era, it would more likely be attributed to W.C. Fields. It is truly a food for all seasons.

In the midst of a barren winter when the bathroom scale outweighs the reality of fat oozing from the lure of bought pizza, a little ingenuity from the kitchen of Health E. Change can put an actual pizza or a delicious look-alike on the table.

Goals are like others moving away from unhealthy to healthy practices:

✓ The "opze" comes from fat. Stay away from fatty sausages and cheeses and use a minimum of oil.

✓ So what goes on a pizza? Anything, although purists generally stick with Italian-oriented ingredients, like tomato, onion, mushrooms and bell pepper. Try other vegetables, like eggplant, zucchini and carrot. Even fruit gets into the act.

Canned pineapple tidbits are marketed on the label as an ingredient for Hawaiian pizza. Think beyond Italian and go for a tropical or Greek attitude. A stronger-flavored cheese means less needs to be used. Not only do vegetables add color, flavor and less fat, but they add more fiber, a worthwhile ingredient particularly in winter when exercise may be on the wane.

✓ Check ingredient labels, including on crusts. Some already have cheese in them, which hikes up the fat content for a base.

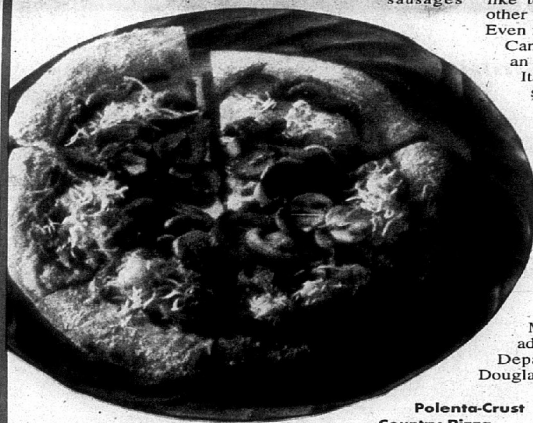

✓ Try alternatives. For instance, switch a bread base with polenta, an Italian dish made with cornmeal.

Here are sources for other cooking ideas that shade January with flavor intensity and color variety:

Wrap Session

Forks and knives sometimes get in the way of progress when eating. That is why "wraps" are perfect for young people who need permission to eat by hand.

Start with a flour tortilla of the right size or cut it to fit the occasion. Add whatever bite-size ingredients work. It is a great use of a dab of leftovers that please someone. A spoonful of corn, beans or other colorful, crunchy vegetable may become palatable to a person who "hates" vegetables. It also allows mixing foods, like fruit with non-sweets, that otherwise might be frowned on by friends or relatives at the same table.

Simply warm a tortilla a few seconds to soften it, place ingredients in the center, fold one edge over the filling and bring two other edges over the folded part to enclose it. This leaves one edge open to show the filling.

For real fun, roll a wrap in waxed paper and serve in a basket with baked chips, plus spears of pineapple or carrot. Each filling can be customized to individual tastes.

KATHY HANEWINKEL

Don't waffle over serving breakfast by day or night

Waffles are fun for my daughters as they try to fill small compartments evenly with a favorite topping or transform the grids into patterns and shapes. We occasionally have waffles for dinner. They respond to the news of "breakfast for dinner" with gleeful cheer.

American's typical dinner table usually centers around meat. Meat is also a significant source of saturated fat which elevates blood cholesterol levels, creating a major risk for heart disease. The American Heart Association encourages people to limit their total meat, fish and poultry intake to 6 ounces per day and add "low-meat meals" and meals that use grains and vegetables as the focus.

Pancakes and waffles surprisingly fit this recommendation well. Our breakfast dinner is rounded out with grapefruit halves or other seasonal fruit along with a cold glass of milk.

The AHA's guidelines also recommend limiting egg yolks to no more than 3 to 4 per week in an effort to limit dietary cholesterol intake, which also elevates blood cholesterol levels. Egg yolks used in this recipe count toward that weekly total, but a yolk-free egg product can wipe out that number.

Waffles are made with kitchen staples, so regardless of how bare the cupboard is, I can drum up the ingredients for this simple waffle recipe. I use butter-milk if it is in the refrigerator; if not, I simply use 1 percent milk.

Doubling the recipe yields leftovers for a cold school-day morning. After every-one has eaten fresh waffles, I prepare the remaining batter and let the cooked waffles cool on a wire rack. I wrap the leftover waffles in waxed paper and pop them in the freezer.

We have experimented with several recipes to come up with this version. My family prefers the taste of these homemade waffles over any store-bought brand available. I enjoy being able to control the sodium and add a little more whole grain than the typical commercially-prepared waffle.

Registered dietitian Cindy Berner is a member of the nutrition committee of the American Heart Association, St. Louis Chapter.

WAFFLES

1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour

3/4 cup whole wheat flour
2 tsp. maple syrup
1/2 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. baking powder
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1/2 tsp. salt
2 cups (1 percent) milk or buttermilk
2 eggs, lightly beaten, or equivalent yolk-free egg product, lightly beaten
1 tsp. vanilla
3 tsp. canola oil

Preheat waffle iron. In large bowl, mix all-purpose and whole wheat flours, syrup, baking soda, baking powder, cinnamon and salt.

In separate bowl combine eggs, milk, oil and vanilla. Add to dry ingredients, mixing until just moistened.

Cook on hot waffle iron until golden brown. Serve with warmed fruit spread or maple syrup.

Yields four (9-inch) square waffles; 429 calories, 15 g fat, 142 mg cholesterol, 14 g protein, 60 g carbohydrate and 382 mg sodium each. This size waffle divides in quarters, so each segment has 107 calories, almost 4 g fat, 35 mg cholesterol and 95 mg sodium. Made with skim milk and yolk-free egg product, each waffle has 407 calories, 12 g fat, 2.4 mg cholesterol, 16 g protein and 2 mg cholesterol.

Cast onto on-line sites; byte into new recipes

"Surfing" applied to the "net" offers few visions of waves and boards. "Hanging 10" only could apply while waiting for graphics to dump or a program to download.

The "net" is the Internet, a network of computers connected by wires, phone lines or fiber optics. It is as amazing as microwave ovens were when first brought to the public.

What does it take to surf without water? Nothing happens without a computer. Even an old one will do, but the faster and the more memory is has, the better.

The second item is a modem. Again, the faster the better, because the only thing that can make the slow net slower is a slow modem.

Software — like "gopher," FTP, and a web browser, such as commonly-used Netscape — is necessary. Most can be obtained from bulletin boards or the net.

Access to the net comes from access providers or through a business already connected. Many access provider companies, some even for free, eagerly compete for business.

Most of them can be dialed via computer modem, so a person can download all the software needed with the click of a mouse and a bit of personal data entry.

While it is convenient to browse the net from the comfort of home, businesses that give access for a fee are becoming commonplace.

Unfortunately, the net comes with neither map nor address book. Growth on the Internet is so rapid that informational books are helpful, but become dated quickly.

Many search engines are helpful. Two are Yahoo @http://www.yahoo.com/ or Altavista @http://altavista.digital.com/cgi-bin/query. At these sites a user can type in what is being sought and it seeks out sources.

For instance, when I used Yahoo and typed in "microwave recipes," it found the addresses of 599 sites. With the click of a mouse I could go to any of them, many linked to other related sites. Altavista found more than 7,000 sites, which were not so selective.

Home economist Kathy Hanewinkel specializes in microwave cooking.

SHRIMP CREOLE

8 oz. uncooked long-grain rice
1 pt. boiling chicken stock
2 medium onions, chopped
1/2 red bell pepper, seeded, chopped
1/2 green bell pepper, seeded, chopped
8 oz. peeled cooked shrimp
1 can (15 oz.) chunk pineapple in juice, drained
1 oz. raisins
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste

In 2-quart microwave-safe bowl, pour boiling stock over rice. Cover tightly with plastic wrap and pierce once in center. Microwave on high power 12 minutes. Replace plastic with clean tea towel.

Place onion and peppers in 1-quart bowl. Cover with plastic wrap and pierce once in center. Cook on high power 3 minutes. Stir.

After 10 minutes, fluff rice with fork. Add onion, pepper, shrimp, pineapple, raisins, salt and pepper. Cover with plastic wrap and pierce center. Cook on high power 3 minutes until hot.

Makes 4 servings.

United States review puts 121 drugs in market

People sometimes don't realize how fortunate they are to live in a country with extensive medical advances. The United States is a leader in health care research and development. The Food and Drug Administration is charged with reviewing all medications for safety and efficacy prior to marketing in this country. Its jurisdiction includes medical devices, but does not include foods, nutritional or over-the-counter drug products. Since 1962, all prescription medications and medical devices must be shown to be safe, as well as effective, before marketing. This process has been criticized, especially when medical devices become available quickly in Europe or, even closer, in Mexico.

It is only when a major problem appears that people here can appreciate the safety guards of the FDA. In 1995, the FDA approved a record 46 new molecular entities (NMEs).

These are products not previously marketed here. In addition to new drugs, the FDA also approved uses for marketed drugs, new dosage forms and other changes.

Trend-watchers expect flavored coffees to continue being favored in 1997. Dierberg's offers a variety of gourmet flavors packaged for convenience and economy.

Private Label Test Run

Wake up, enjoy smelling flavored coffee

Coffee lovers perk up when they smell the brew. The wide variety of flavored coffees has expanded the number of those who enjoy drinking regularly.

Testers recently tried various flavors of Dierberg's "classic blends" coffees. Each 2-ounce package, recommended for use on the package as a single pot, costs 99 cents, which is 20 to 30 cents less than national brands.

Reactions were positive, but their intensity varied by flavor. The most positive one came for the Kahlua and creme, which was tried both with and without caffeine.

"The Kahlua and creme has a rich aroma that caught my attention before brewing it. It reminded me of the kind of quality coffee I get at my favorite coffee shop at the mall," a taster said.

He called the flavor "smooth" and the flavoring "strong." While he generally opts for regular coffee, he said he would drink this one again.

The tester for the decaffeinated Kahlua and creme variety strongly favored it as well.

"Like usual, I used it with regular coffee to make three or four pots. Flavored coffees are loved at my house, but nobody likes them too intense or too sweet. I've never been overwhelmed with 'creme' flavors, mostly because my attempts with Irish creme in a variety of brands was all-roma and no-flavor," she said.

"But this Kahlua and creme was very attractive. The aroma was great, both in the pot and by the cup. It had a nice smooth flavor that came through in the cup, too. We enjoyed it a lot. I thought I'd probably switch back to a favorite hazelnut, but we stuck with consecutive pots of the Kahlua and creme."

POLENTA CRUST COUNTRY PIZZA

1 loaf (1 lb.) frozen bread dough
1/2 cup yellow cornmeal
8 oz. white, crinini and/or shitake mushrooms, sliced
3/4 cup dried tomato halves
1 tsp. olive or vegetable oil
8 oz. fully cooked, smoked turkey kielbasa sausage, thinly sliced
1/2 cup chopped fresh leaf oregano
2 cups (8 oz.) grated mixed pizza cheeses (mozzarella and cheddar) or Monterey Jack cheese

Thaw bread dough. Preheat oven to 450°. Sprinkle cornmeal on counter. Lay dough on meal and pat out to flatten, turning several times. Roll to 14- or 15-inch round (it will tend to be elastic and pull in). To make it easier to roll, pick up dough now and then and stretch from underneath with knuckles.

Sprinkle 12-inch nonstick or lightly oiled pizza pan with extra cornmeal. Place dough in pan, pushing or rolling in edge to allow more cheese to rim.

Cover tomatoes with boiling water. Let sit 10 minutes. Drain and snip into strips.

Heat 1 tablespoon oil in large skillet. Sauté sausage and mushrooms about 5 minutes until sausage is crisp. Remove from heat. Mix in oregano.

Heat 1 tablespoon oil in large skillet. Sauté sausage and mushrooms about 5 minutes until sausage is crisp. Remove from heat. Mix in oregano.

Bake crust in preheated oven 7 to 9 minutes until it begins to brown. Remove from oven. Sprinkle 1 cup cheese evenly over crust. Top with mushroom mixture, then tomato. Sprinkle remaining cheese in ring on top. Return to oven. Bake 6 minutes or until crust is crisp and cheese is melted.

Cut with pizza cutter in 6 wedges.

Note: To cut fat further, use reduced-fat cheese and replace sausage with more vegetables, like bell pepper and onion.

ROASTED VEGETABLES WITH POLENTA

2 medium carrots, sliced 1/2 inch thick
2 medium red potatoes, cut in 1 inch chunks
1 medium red onion, sliced 1/2 inch thick
3 tbsp. olive oil
1 tsp. basil
1 medium yam, peeled,

cut in 1 inch chunks
1 red bell pepper, seeded, sliced 1/2 inch wide
1 medium zucchini, sliced 1/2 inch thick
2 cloves garlic, chopped
2 tbsp. balsamic vinegar
1 can (14 1/2 oz.) chicken broth, plus enough water to make 4 cups
1 cup yellow cornmeal
1/4 cup grated parmesan cheese
1/2 cup slivered almonds, toasted
Salt and pepper to taste

Preheat oven to 450°. Place carrot, potato and onion on baking sheet with sides. Toss with oil and Basil until coated. Cover with aluminum foil. Bake in preheated oven 30 minutes.

Remove foil. Add yam, pepper, zucchini, garlic and vinegar. Toss. Return to oven. Continue baking about 20 minutes, tossing occasionally, until vegetables are just tender.

In medium saucepan, bring broth and water to boil. Mix in cornmeal. Reduce heat to medium. Cook, stirring constantly, 3 to 4 minutes until thickened. Mix in cheese. Stir until melted.

Toss almonds with vegetables. Season with salt and pepper.

Divide polenta equally on 4 serving plates. Top with roasted vegetables and almonds.

Makes 4 servings; 483 calories, 17 g fat, 4 mg cholesterol, 522 mg sodium, 71 g carbohydrate and 13 g protein each.

Note: To toast almonds, spread in ungreased baking pan. Bake in 350° oven 5 to 10 minutes until almonds are light brown, stirring once or twice to assure even browning.

Wise Ways

Aspartame approved for general sweetening

With the holidays now just a memory, many of us now are dealing with the few extra pounds we managed to put on since Thanksgiving. With the boom of fat-free and sugar-free products on the market, dieters have little problem finding lower-calorie foods.

In fact, in 1996 aspartame, the main ingredient in the artificial sweetener NutraSweet, received approval for more uses. Now it can be used in any category of food or beverage, making it the most widespread artificial sweetener in the world.

The sugar substitute has been on the market since 1981 when it was approved for use in powdered mixes and as a tabletop sweetener. Today, NutraSweet is found in more than 5,000 products and is sold in more than 100 countries.

The rapid growth and widespread use of aspartame in foods has led to much publicity and consequently a variety of questions. While the safety of aspartame has been affirmed by leading health groups, including the American Medical Association, many questions still surround its safety. On the Internet, several web sites are devoted solely to the aspartame controversy. Here are frequently-asked questions by consumers about aspartame.

What is aspartame?
It is a nutritive sweetener made by joining two protein components, aspartic acid and phenylalanine, and a small amount of methanol. It is about 200 times sweeter than sugar.

Can aspartame be used in cooking and baking?

Aspartame's components separate when heated over time, resulting in a loss of sweetness. Therefore, it is not recommended for use in recipes requiring lengthy heating or baking. However, it can be added at the end of the cooking cycle in some recipes. If a food containing aspartame is inadvertently heated, it is still safe, just not as sweet.

How much aspartame can people safely consume?

The acceptable daily intake of aspartame has been set at 50 milligrams per kilogram of body weight or about the sweetness equivalency of consuming one pound of sugar per day.

In everyday terms, to reach this level, a 150-pound adult would have to consume twenty (12-ounce) containers of carbonated soft drink, thirty-four (9-ounce) servings of powdered soft drink, forty-two (4-ounce) servings of gelatin dessert or 97 packets of tabletop sweetener.

Although aspartame has many advantages, it still has shortcomings. Persons with a rare hereditary disease known as phenylketonuria (PKU) must control their phenylalanine intake from all sources. Products sweetened with aspartame must carry a statement on the label that they contain this protein.

Individuals who have concerns about possible adverse reactions to aspartame should contact a physician.

Certified family and consumer scientist Carol Schlitt is extension educator of nutrition and wellness with University of Illinois Extension Service at the Edwardsville Extension Center.

TEA 'N' COCOA WARMER
In large saucepan, combine 3 tablespoons instant tea powder, 1/4 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cocoa powder,

1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 cup milk. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, 2 minutes.

Stir in 3/4 cups milk. Heat thoroughly, stirring occasionally.

Garnish, if desired, with mini-marshmallows. Makes about 6 servings.

Winning meatloaf, potatoes roll into a swirl

Diane Bryant, St. Louis, is the winner of this week's recipe contest for Meat and Potato Swirls. Her prize is dinner certificates at the Pasta House Co.

She likes this as a make-ahead dish, because it can be refrigerated or frozen in advance for later baking. She points out the combined colors of meat and potatoes make it an appetizing dish. For a quick and easy dinner, she adds a salad.

Recipes in the Dried Bean

Recipe Contest should be postmarked by Jan. 31 for consideration as winner each Wednesday in February, one of four possible prize dates.

Send in a recipe — one per household — for any kind of dish, from appetizer to main dish, that uses dried beans to: Dried Bean Recipe Contest, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

Type or print the recipe legibly on one side of the paper. Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Name the Journal you receive.

Be sure to double-check the recipe as it is written for both amounts and directions, including any variations that make this dish special.

If there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. Along with taste and eye appeal, it will be among criteria used for selecting winners.

margarine
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cup milk
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded cheddar cheese

Preheat oven to 350°. In a large bowl, combine ground beef, 1 cup potato flakes, ketchup, Worcestershire sauce and 1 egg. Mix well.

Line 12-by-10-inch jellyroll pan with aluminum foil. Press meat mixture evenly to form 12-by-10-inch rectangle.

In medium saucepan, bring water, butter and salt to rolling boil. Remove from heat. Stir in 1 1/2 cups potato flakes, milk, 1 egg and cheese. Spread over meat mixture.

Roll jellyroll fashion, beginning with shorter side, lifting foil to help roll.

Carefully cut roll in 6 to 8 slices. Place cut-side down in ungreased 13-by-9-inch pan. Bake in preheated oven about 35 minutes until meat is done.

MEAT AND POTATO SWIRLS

1 1/2 lb. ground beef
2 1/2 cups potato flakes
1/4 cup ketchup
1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
